Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bone by Waggin Train LLC	Dog	Sheepdog - Shetland	10	Years	Male	18	Pound	After ingesting one Supreme Green Dental Bone, dog became lethargic in about 2 hours, then had diarrhea and vomiting for 2 days continuing into day 3 with lesser symptoms.
Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky	Dog	Terrier - Rat						Shortly after purchasing and giving Costco's "Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky treats" to our 15 plus pound dogs, they both had diarrhea and one began vomiting yellowish foamy liquid. I didn't realize it was from the "100% natural" treats until a week or so later and began investigating. This led to an internet search where I found numerous other warnings from pet owners.
Mini Dingo (Chicken Meat in the Middle)	Dog	Schnauzer - Miniature	9	Days	Female	17	Gram	I purchased a product "Mini Dingo" Rawhide and gave one to my pet. The next day she was sick to her stomach two times but otherwise did not appear to show any other symptoms. The following 2 - 3 days I gave her one each day and she again was sick to her stomach. The next two days I didn't give her one and on the 4th day I gave her another "Mini Dingo" Rawhide. The following day she was sick and on the 6th day continued to vomit and she had a bowel movement with blood in her stool. I took her to the vet for diagnosis. They took blood and examined her. No diagnosis was made. The next day she continued to be sick and lethargic, no appetite and could not keep liquids down and was visibly very ill. I took her to emergency vet and they put her on interveinus. The next morning I took her to her regular vet and they kept her on intervenus. By 12:00 p.m. the doctor said she was gravely ill and he did not have hope. He said she was probably not very comfortable and upon discussion with the doctor it was decided to have her euthanized. This pet was a healthy animal and had yearly visits to her vet. She had no illness prior to giving her this product. Upon her eating this rawhide it appeared she had a toxic reaction.
Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bones. Waggin Train Dental Treats for Dogs.	Dog	Dalmatian	11	Years	Female	66	Pound	The product of complaint was purchased at the Wal-Mart on Veterans Blvd in Metairie/Kenner, Louisiana on/around November 10th, 2010. As per the bag's instructions, one bone per day was given until the fourth day, when she started exhibiting lethargic and depressed behavior, and refused to eat her dog food. After a day and a half of not eating, I brought her into my work (b) (6). When examined by the vet, her physical was normal, but her bloodwork was abnormal. Her ALKP and ALT were extremely high, which mean that her liver was functioning abnormally. This prompted an ultrasound where the vet found no evidence of tumors, but suspected that she may have had an infection or abscess in her liver. He sent off blood to do a CBC (Complete Blood Count) in order to determine if her body was fighting an infection/abscess (in which case, her white blood cells would be high), and it came back normal. She was put on Zentonil, a liver supplement, and started to improve during the week until my mother gave her another Freshies dental bone. Later that night she began acting lethargic and depressed and did not want to go outside or eat. That morning she hung her head over her food bowl and drooled, but could not force herself to eat anything. This is when I knew for certain that the treats were the cause of my dog's liver problem. Her liver values were retested today, and they are still abnormally high, but less than what they were the first time she was tested. The vet is hopeful that her liver will return to normal after another week or two on the Zentonil, but also suspects that the treats are to blame for the sudden liver problem. Also, other internet accounts and reports of Waggin Train brand dog products making their animals very ill, sometimes fatally, heighten my concern that this brand should be pulled off the shelves.
Waggin Train Wholesome Chicken Jerky Teders	Dog	Terrier - Yorkshire	14	Months	Female	6	Pound	I gave (b) (6) a portion of a treat during lunch. When I returned home from work that evening at approximately 5:30 pm, she had thrown up and was ill. She then proceeded to have diarrhea and was low on energy. I fed her small portions of rice after talking with my vet. Later that night, her diarrhea had blood in it. She also threw up the rice at 2:30 am. I took her to the vet the next morning and they determined there was not blockage from a foreign object and her blood count appeared normal. They determined she had a severe bacterial infection and prescribed antibiotics.

Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky	Dog	Retriever - Labrador	7	Mont hs	Female		Pound	Our puppy was very sick twice in 3 months. The first time she had extreme diarrhea. She would wake up about 5 times in the middle of the night to go. We took here to the vet all tests were negative for any parasite or bacteria that could be causing this. We did not know at that time why she was getting sick so we continued feeding her the jerky treats, we never thought it could be from the treats. The second time she started with excessive drinking of water, vomiting, diarrhea, it progressed into bloody diarrhea. Blood was actually dripping out of her rectum. I felt so bad for her. We took here to the vet again and again the test showed negative but they gave here medicine and she is starting to get better but she still has soft stools and is drinking a lot of water. Our puppy did have a spading and extraction of her stomach for something she ate but that was on august 10 she was off her medicine and doing great a couple of weeks before the second time she got very sick. I do not think the surgery was the cause. I think the jerky treats were the cause.
Kingdom pets chicken jerky	Dog	Rottweiler	1	Years	Female	70	Pound	I started using this product as a training treat. This product is like poison to dogs. I can't believe there are so many complaints out there and I wasn't aware. These need to be pulled off the market before anymore dogs get sick or die!! Email: I bought these treats as a special treat to my dogs as a reward for going outside to potty. Boy was it ever a special treat. I almost killed my dog. It made my other dogs sick too but one was really sick. I had to take her to the emergency pet clinic 40 miles from my house on the weekend around 3 a.m. She had thrown up so much that she was bleeding internally. My name is (b) (6), my dog is (b) (6). You can call them to confirm. I decided one day to research treats and discovered that there are many, many of the same type of complaints on multiple websites about the Waggin Train Jerky Tenders. You can find the complaints easily. I wished I had done my research. Many dogs are getting extremely sick after these treats. Why do you keep selling them? These are hurting dogs. WHY? I just want to know. This not only almost cost me my beloved dog but several hundred dollars in vet bills. I can understand if you are not aware but these complaints have been getting posted for a while now. Your company needs to be held accountable. (b) (6)
Waggin' Train Yam Good Wholesome Chicken Wrapped Yams	Dog	Pug	3	Years	Mixed Population of Female and Male	13	Pound	One of my dogs broke into a rash after eating this product. My other dog began defecating very loose stools for several days.
Waggin'Train wholesome Western Grill assorted dog treats; five varieties:Chicken jerky links chicken drumettes big blast pork skin twist chicken jerky tenders chicken kabobs	Dog	Dachshund - Miniature	4	Years	Female	9	Pound	Approximately 3 weeks after I began giving my two house dogs Waggin'Train brand Western grill assorted dog treats she became ill. She started by vomiting, followed by lethargy, and diarrhea which was followed by very bloody diarrhea and signs of severe abdominal pain. After supportive care and two rounds of metronidazole, she has recovered. We have three dogs, all eating the same diet, but only the two house dogs received the treats. Those two dogs became very sick. The third dog has remained healthy. I suspect the treats because nothing else in the dogs' diet or routine was changed. This was the first time that I used this particular (chicken jerky) sort of treat.
Waggin Train Wholesome Western Grill Assorted Dog Treats	Dog	Mixed (Dog)	9	Years	Mixed Population of Female and Male	90	Pound	After feeding my dogs Waggin Train Western Grill (chicken jerky dog treats) both my dogs fell very ill. First my male dog who is 13 fell ill with vomiting and severe diarrhea for days. Not knowing what caused the issues I continued feeding my female dog who is 9 the dog treats. Within days my other dog fell ill with the same symptoms. I took her to the vet to get blood work and stool sampled tested and the vet determined from the stool sample that the female had very high levels of clostridia. Thank goodness I took her to the vet because the clostridia keeps water from absorbing into the intestines and can cause dehydration and even death in some dogs. I am positive this was from these dog treats and the vet agreed that the timing and symptoms were in fact in relation to the dog treats. I am very concerned about these dog treats because they are in fact made in China. I just can't believe these are still available in stores all over Missouri and there is no warning label on the package. Please help save the lives of dogs by banning these products. I'm out two hundred dollars plus the cost of these treats but at least I still have my best friends!
